

16 January 2007

---

New Site for Young Entrepreneurs

To date, websites for young entrepreneurs have come in two main flavors: The type that teach or the type that sell. But as of today there's something new from an original founder of the Young Entrepreneurs Network on CompuServ in 1994. YSN.com \(Your Success Network\) -- just launched in beta -- is a site for entrepreneurial young adults serious about building a successful business, career or profession who want to network with others of a like mind and ambition. It's kind of MySpace meets Junior Achievement for the 18-34 set. Founders Jen Kushell and Scott Kaufman, who co-wrote Secrets of the Young & Successful, have devised a site where you can join groups like "Associations and Corporations," "Crazy Careers," "Entrepreneurs & Small Business," "Money Matters," and many others. Build your own personal "Portfolio," join discussions and find other members. Signup is free.

beta
ysn.com
your success network